

Adult Education at Acorn Hill presents

Happy Children

*Creating a foundation for authentic happiness
today and in the future*

Tuesday, April 4, 2017 7:30-9pm

Too many parents struggle to get more done with less time in the day. Too many children, from birth on, experience and show symptoms of anxiety and stress. Let's explore possibilities for creating calmer and more joyful parents and children.

“ If you’ve had the experience of binding a book, knitting a sock, playing a recorder, then you feel that you can build a rocket ship, or learn a software program you’ve never touched. It’s not bravado, just a quiet confidence. There is nothing you can’t do. Why couldn’t you? Why couldn’t anybody?”

- Peter Nitze, Waldorf and Harvard graduate, and director of an aerospace company

Leimomi Brown teaches in the Afternoon Program at Acorn Hill and was formerly a lead teacher in the morning class for over 20 years. Her interests include the arts, philosophy, environmental justice, multiculturalism, storytelling, movement, and inner development, all of which have dovetailed into her professional life. Working at Acorn Hill allows Leimomi to spend time teaching young children, a most rejuvenating and fulfilling occupation. Her two daughters attended Acorn Hill and the Washington Waldorf School.

Kate Gage holds an MFA from Pratt Institute, is a certified Waldorf class teacher, and a certified Waldorf Education resource teacher (remedial education). She has taught at Acorn Hill for 19 years as a morning, afternoon, and parent-child teacher, and has been an Early Childhood Education speaker and workshop leader. Her daughter attended the Washington Waldorf School.

Teresa Price joined our faculty in 2005 as an assistant teacher, and has served on the Diversity Committee and our board. She is a former vice president of the Southern DC Chapter of Mocha Moms Inc., and has been very active in many community projects. She has a BS from the University of Maryland in Business and Psychology. She is presently a board member of a new Waldorf charter school initiative in DC. Her two sons attended Acorn Hill and the Washington Waldorf School.
